

Casey at the Bat Summary

The stage is set for the story behind Ernest Thayer's poem, "Casey at the Bat." The Children's Theater will have you singing and swinging through the game!

Drift back in time to a hot summer day in 1888 when Porkopolis (Cincinnati) was the scene for the much anticipated meeting of the Chickenhawk's baseball team and the Mudville Nine featuring the mighty Casey! One team will lose this game and to make matters worse, they will also have to relocate to the city of Cleveland!

The owners and managers have done all they can and now Kid Baldwin holds the ball ready to pitch to Casey. What will happen on that fateful day? Will he strike out? Will he get a hit and win the game? From soft shoe to barbershop to lip sync, the "bet" is that you'll enjoy the play! So, grab your peanuts, popcorn and pull-taffy - yes, I said pull-taffy - and settle in for THE big game and The Children's Theatre's production of "Casey at the Bat!"
